‘Don’t Give Up’: Meet Donald Murphy, Hancock County Relay for Life’s 2022 Honorary Survivor

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

Donald Murphy has no plans of giving up when it comes to fighting his cancer. While providing care to his wife, Murphy himself was diagnosed with cancer.

Murphy, who will turn 88 this month, said his first introduction to cancer was when his wife, the late LiLi Stahler-Murphy and 2020’s Honorary Survivor, was diagnosed with ovarian cancer in 2016.

“I was a caregiver for almost three years and then during the process, I found out that I had prostate cancer in 2018,” he said.

Murphy said doctors discovered his cancer during a routine physical exam. It was between stage three and four.

The plan for Murphy’s cancer was medication and injections every six months.

“The scary thing about it is that I did not realize it,” Murphy said. “I had no idea. No pain, nothing. I learned that once you have cancer, you never get rid of it. It can go into remission, but it can come back.”

Murphy said his cancer went into remission and he thought himself “cured.” But it came back about six months later. He said he is back to taking medications and receiving injections.

“Thankfully, it (treatment) was never really painful or debilitating,” Murphy said. “I managed to go ahead and do things, but slowed down a little bit.”

One thing Murphy said is different from his younger days is people’s ability to discuss cancer more openly.

“When I was growing up or younger, cancer was the ‘c’ word,”

City of Diamondhead celebrates the 10th anniversary of its incorporation

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

The city of Diamondhead — assisted by state and local officials past & present, including Lt. Gov. Delbert Hosemann — last week celebrated the tenth anniversary of its incorporation.

“Tonight is about celebrating the citizens of Diamondhead, some of whom are no longer with us,” Mayor Nancy Depreo said.

Joshua Lindsey, elder and clerk of session for Diamondhead Community Church, gave the event’s invocation. Former Councilman Ron Rech led the crowd in reciting the Pledge of Allegiance.

Audrey Ramirez and former Mayor Chuck Ingraham, who co-chaired the petition committee which led the city’s coalition efforts, gave opening remarks.

“I began working for incorporation in June 2006,” Ingraham said. “In July 2006, I was named to the Governor’s Committee” to determine whether Diamondhead should be incorporated. “By April 2007, I recommended that the area should be incorpo-

Two-year-old recovering after accidental gunshot

ECHO STAFF

A two-year-old boy is recovering after apparently accidentally shooting himself in the head on Saturday at his Kiln home.

Officers of the Hancock County Sheriff’s Office on Saturday “responded to the 5000 block of Ivanhoe Drive, Kiln, in reference to a toddler that had sustained a gunshot wound to the head,” Sheriff Ricky Adam said in a press release Monday. “The child was flown to an area hospital for emergency care. At the time of this release, the child is listed in stable condition.”

Adam said the investigation is ongoing, but “this appears to be a case in which the child was able to gain access to an unsecured weapon.”

“This appears to be a horrific accident that I would not wish on anyone,” Adam said. “I hope people will take this opportunity to ensure that they take the proper precautions with any firearm in their house. People need to think about those whom not only live in the house, but those that may access the house as guest, as well.”

Coast Electric introduces high-speed internet service

Ron Barnes, CEO of Coast Electric and CoastConnect, speaks Friday about the new high-speed internet service offered in Hancock County.

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

Coast Electric hosted a special event last week to introduce Hancock County customers to its new CoastConnect high-speed internet service.

Ron Barnes, CEO of Coast Electric and CoastConnect, welcomed participants to the event Friday at Pearl River Community College's Waveland campus.

"We have now served more than 7,500 customers" in northern Hancock County, Barnes said, which previously had little access to high-speed internet service, "and we are working our way south as well.

Barnes said Coast Electric projects it will be able to offer the service to the rest of Hancock County and western Harrison County by the end of the year.

"By the time it's all done, we'll have about 45,000 miles of fiber-optic lines out there."

Barnes said that Coast Electric began working toward that goal in 2018, and the 2019 Mississippi Broadband Act — designed to permit rural electric cooperatives to provide high-speed internet to their customers — helped make it a reality.

Then the pandemic hit, Barnes said, and the need for high-speed internet access became greater than ever.

“When people ask why we’re doing this,” Barnes said, “it’s because who else would provide the service in rural areas?”

Barnes said Coast-Connect is “Just as good as any service in any big city," and is was built "by local people."

Another advantage, he said, is that doing it locally meant there was 24-hour service protection.

"If anything goes wrong with your service, we've made a pledge to have you back up and running within 24 hours," Barnes said.

Coast Connect is offered at two different speeds and prices — Quick Connect (100 Mbps) for $55 a month; and GigConnect (1Gbps) for $85 a month.

“We are now offering services that every community needs” and can be proud of, Barnes said.

Our Lady Academy (OLA) Alpha Omega Robotics Team members Alyssa Fayard, Maddie Amacker, Camille Ivey, Kendall Pavolini, Maria Schuyler, Sofie Talazac, and Ana Wadsworth won the FIRST® (For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology) Bayou Regional Competition under the leadership of OLA Science Teacher Mrs. Julie Cranford. Over 40 high schools from Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Florida competed on March 31-April 1 at The Pontchartrain Center in Kenner, Louisiana.

These high-school level robotics teams, with the guidance of adult mentors, had 6 weeks to design, build and program their competitive robot to perform a series of tasks as a sport, using offense, defense quick thinking and scouting techniques.

Teams must use code and programming, CAD, mechanical and electrical engineering, automation and robotics.

“Our team was amazing! These students have worked so hard and their perseverance and dedication to the project paid off! I applaud their efforts and their team work in building OLA’s Award Winning robot. We are extremely indebted to our mentors, Joel Lawhead and Joe Schuyler who have volunteered much of their time sharing their engineering expertise and computer knowledge with our students. We are also grateful for our sponsors: NASA, Stennis Facility, Mississippi Power, South Group, Chiniche Engineering & Surveying, U.S. Marine, Coast Electric, Triton and Silver Slipper Casino whose contributions have made this program a success,” said Mrs. Cranford.

SEA COAST ECHO

Some Pearl River Community College students who are looking for a way to help cover their tuition are in luck.

PRCC students who are residents of Forrest County, Hancock County or the City of Hattiesburg are eligible for additional help through the County Tuition Assistance Program (CTAP).

The program is a partnership between PRCC and local counties to provide financial support to cover the cost of regular tuition to attend PRCC. CTAP is made possible through support from County and City Officials from the City of Hattiesburg, Forrest County, and Hancock County.

“The county tuition assistance program has been a great asset to students who need assistance paying for tuition and may not qualify for other programs,” said Director of Business Services Laura Chisolm. “This program has been extremely beneficial to students and helped reduce their student debt.”

CTAP will cover the current cost of tuition per semester for up to a maximum of four consecutive semesters (excluding summer school.) Federal, state, and institutional scholarship aid that is awarded to a student will be applied first. Then CTAP funds will be applied to the remaining tuition balance. Non-tuition related expenses such as fees, supplies, books, and room and board are not covered by CTAP.

HOW TO BE ELIGIBLE FOR CTAP FUNDS

The first step for eligibility is to apply for PRCC including taking the National ACT or Accuplacer Test and completing the federal aid process including the FASFA and any required verification process.

Then the student must apply for state financial aid including MTAG, HELP, MESG, etc. at msfinancialaid.org. The deadline for HELP is March 31 and the other programs have a September 15 deadline. They must also apply for PRCC Foundation Scholarships through RiverGuide by April 1.

Finally, the student must enroll full-time (15 credit hours) at PRCC for the fall semester immediately after graduating high school or earning their high school equivalency certificate. Anyone who entered the military upon graduating high school will be excluded from this enrollment timeline requirement.

Continuation of CTAP assistance requires the student to pass a minimum of 15 hours per semester with a 2.0 GPA. Once eligibility is lost it cannot be reinstated.

Four jailed for meth, burglary tools & stolen catalytic converters

ECHO STAFF

Hancock County Sheriff Ricky Adam last week announced the arrest of four people, including three Kiln residents and a Saucier man, in connection with possession of narcotics and burglary tools — and in possession of several apparently stolen catalytic converters.

Sheriff’s Narcotics agents executed an arrest warrant for 33-year-old Antonio Connetti at his home at Kiln Acres Drive last Friday for his alleged failure to appear in circuit court on charges of possession with intent to distribute controlled substances, Adam said in a press release.

“After arriving at the residence,” Adam said, “agents encountered Connetti,” along with Kaitlyn Pidcoe, 21, and Olympia Elchos, 22, both of Kiln; and Justin Hoda, 28, of Saucier.

All four of them were on Connetti’s property “in the vicinity of a pickup truck, containing catalytic converters that appeared to have been cut from vehicles,” Adam said. “Agents obtained a search warrant for the property and residence, which resulted in the discovery of methamphetamine ‘ice,’ burglary tools and several power tools.”

All four were transported to the Hancock County Adult Detention Center, where they were held on non-bondable offenses, Adam said.

“Property crimes and drug activity are often related activities,” Adam said. “When a drug habit surpasses the income to support it, some resort to committing thefts and burglaries in order to sell stolen items for income. This is indicative by a sharp increase in catalytic converter thefts. Our Narcotics Division and Criminal Investigations Division worked together to recover this property and take drugs off the street.

“Residents can assist our agency in recovering stolen property by recording serial numbers or placing identifying markings when serial numbers are not available.”

Adam urged the public to report criminal activity by calling his office at 228-466-6900; calling Mississippi Coast Crime Stoppers at 1-877-787-5898; or emailing to sotips@co.hancock.ms.us.

DH Election Commission finalizes list of candidates for Ward 2, 3 council seats

Absentee voting begins this Saturday

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

The Diamondhead Election Commission has certified candidates for the non-partisan special municipal election for the Ward 2 and Ward 3 city council seats.

Three candidates qualified in Ward 2, including David Hart, Anna Demarco Liese and former Ward 3 Councilman Ricky Sheppard.

Four candidates qualified for the Ward 3 race: John J. Cumberland, Jesse Flies, former Councilwoman Jamie Wetzel Morgan and Carl L. Necaie.

Special counsel Malcolm Jones advised election commissioners during the process Wednesday.

Jones said that all of the candidates had submitted petitions with the proper number of certified Diamondhead voters’ signatures, and that all of them had been cleared in extensive background checks.

There were initial questions about the viability of the candidacy of Hart and Sheppard in Ward 2 — Hart had previously lived in Pass Christian, but was able to submit paperwork proving he had lived in Diamondhead for the required two years in order to qualify; and Sheppard stepped down from his Ward 3 seat to run for the Ward 2 position because he and his family are in the process of moving into Ward 2. However, records indicate that Sheppard closed on the new property on Wednesday, April 20, clearing the way for him to run for the Ward 2 seat.

The non-partisan special election will be held at the Diamondhead Community Center, located at 5300 Diamondhead Circle. The poll will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. on Tuesday, May 10.

If no candidate in an election receives a majority of the votes cast, the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes will have a run-off election to be held three weeks later.

Absentee voting has begun, and ballots can be cast during business hours Monday through Friday at Diamondhead City Hall. You can also cast an absentee ballot this Saturday — the office will be open from 8 a.m.-noon.

Flag Retirement Program

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home works with local residents and the veterans services organizations to properly retire any U.S. flag that has reached the end of its service. Our program is designed to honor our national heroes, our military veterans, and to give dignity to our American Flag when it is no longer worthy of display. We strive to see that each veteran being cremated has a flag. There is no charge for this service to our veterans.

According to the United States code, Title 4, Chapter 1, Subsection 8: "The flag, when it is in such condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning."

If you would like to honor a deceased veteran by donating an aged or worn flag to be properly disposed of, you may do so by delivering the flags to our funeral home located on the corner of Necaie Avenue and Main Street.

"We pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Cancer sucks

I know, you might be thinking, here comes the “negativity.”

But, I think that anyone who has known anyone who has experienced cancer can agree, that it does in fact, suck.

It’s a reality that too many people face. Don’t even get me started on the outrageous medical bills that come with such a diagnosis. It’s sad that we even have to host fundraisers for people to help cover their medical bills.

A lot of people face cancer with some of the most out-of-this-world strength I have ever seen. Throughout my career, I’ve interviewed several people and seen firsthand the effects the disease has on them and their families.

Last year, I had the immense honor of interviewing born and raised “Bay Rat” Rachel Yarborough, an outstanding woman with four beautiful children and a husband so devoted that it puts even the greatest romance writers to shame. She passed away mere months after our interview, but Rachel faced her diagnosis with a fierce determination to make the most of the time she had left with her family. While I saw a woman making the most of her time with her family, I also saw a woman who was grounded in reality. She planned her treatments with research and knowledge, but she knew that, in reality, cancer would cut her life short.

The year before that, I interviewed LiLi Stahler-Murphy, a spunky, smart, and hilarious woman. I wish I had had more time to get to know her. I’ll never forget laughing with her in a corner of the Mockingbird Cafe. She thought me brave for trying the purple potato latte. It’s good, I can attest to that. Among other shared interests, our biggest one may have been our love for shoes. But again, what I saw was a happy woman, but also a woman who knew that if that last treatment wouldn’t work for her, then she was out of options.

I am always humbled when I hear people speak of their cancer journeys. It makes all the things I might find troublesome seem to be quite small.

My first experience with cancer was when I was 12 years old in 1994. My Uncle Ricky was diagnosed with an advanced stage of colon cancer. My memories of the time are spotty, but there are things that I always associate with him such as roast beef poboyos and those jumbo candy canes they sell at Christmas time. He was a good man, a good father, and a good uncle. A mere six months later, he was gone. But he fought the disease with treatment that left him a shell

Hancock History: Reminiscences Of World War II

John McDonald (1907-1979) enlisted in the Navy at age thirty-five and served at the Adak Naval Base in the Aleutian Islands in southwest Alaska. Because of his extensive experience in supply chain management, he was commissioned as a Lieutenant Commander of the Supply Corps. The Navy supported the military offensive to invade and occupy the neighboring Japanese Islands of Kiska and Attu. Consequently, the Empire of Japan was prevented from taking over Alaska.

The U.S. Army under General Douglas MacArthur (1880-1964) occupied the various islands in the Pacific in cooperation with the U.S. Navy commanded by Admiral Chester Nimitz. One such soldier from Hancock County was Joseph Clay “J.C.” Baxter (1918-2011). Baxter entered the army in early 1941 and was in the Army Air Corps at Nich-ol’s Field outside Manila in the Philippines. After Pearl Harbor, he fought the Japanese and was taken prisoner having to be part of the Bataan Death March. However, after a few months, he escaped and joined the guerillas fighting in the mountains. Unfortunately, he was subsequently recaptured. Later, he was transferred to a prison in Japan to be a slave laborer. Miraculously, he was liberated in 1945 by the US Army. He received the Bronze Star and the Prisoner of War Medal. After the war he owned or managed numerous night clubs and restaurants along the Gulf Coast.

Rationing was necessary on the home front during World War II and was one of the first remembrances of the few old-timers left in Hancock County such as Dot Kersanac. She describes their wartime experience of rationing gasoline/ diesel, rubber, and food products such as coffee and sugar. Nancy Gex reported that people organized any chores of shopping so that the mission could be accomplished with one trip to save gas because of rationing.

The number of freight and passenger trains coming through Hancock County increased from a previous level of thirty per day to as many as fifty including trains carrying troops and supplies to and from the numerous military bases along the coast. The trains were pulled by steam-driven engines, and at various spots along the way, next to the railroad tracks, were water tanks and coal shoots. Local citizen, Nellie Kidd, boarded the passenger trains filled with soldiers when they stopped at the depot in Bay St. Louis and sold them her homemade sandwiches. In addition, at certain sites along the tracks ashes from the engines were dumped.

In conclusion, everyday life in Hancock County during World War II brought changes such as rationing, blackouts, draft boards, and busy traffic with truck convoys on the highways. Fifty trains a day steamed through the depot section of our town. Our citizens, male and female, volunteered to serve their country. Among them were Emi-

Conservation Trust Fund Becomes Law

Legislation creating the “Mississippi Outdoor Stewardship Trust Fund” has passed the Mississippi Legislature and Governor Tate Reeves has signed it into law. We at Wildlife Mississippi, appreciate their leadership on this Fund and are confident that the 780,000 sportsmen and women in Mississippi appreciate it too. I would especially like to recognize Lt. Governor Delbert Hosemann, Speaker Phillip Gunn, Representatives Scott Bounds, Bill Kincaid, and Trey Lamar, and Senators Neil Whaley, Briggs Hopson, and Josh Harkins. Their hard work on this bill was obvious. I also appreciate all of the pro-sportsmen legislators that voted for this legislation.

There are currently over $80 billion federal dollars available to Mississippi, but we have been unable to access them, due to a lack of matching funds. Thanks to the Legislature, this new Trust Fund will allow our state to multiply our investment with other funds and utilize a small portion of this $80 billion for recreation and conservation.

Establishment of the Mississippi Outdoor Stewardship Trust Fund will support our economy and create jobs. As a group, outdoor enthusiasts in the state spend an average of $6 million per day ($2.2 billion annually), supporting $847 million annually in salaries and wages for the 33,584 jobs this sector creates for hard-working Mississippians; supporting $186 million annually in federal taxes; and supporting $187 million annually in state and local taxes. All of this has a ripple effect of $3.02 billion annually, all according to the Congressional Sportsmen’s Foundation. Mississippi is a global leader in design and manufacture of outdoor recreation products. Growth in the outdoor industry is creating a demand for highly skilled workers. In short, outdoor recreation is a growing and diverse economic super sector that is a vital cornerstone of successful communities in Mississippi and cannot be ignored. Most importantly, outdoor recreation is no longer a “nice to have,” it is now a “must have” as leaders across the country recognize the undeniable economic, social, and health benefits of outdoor recreation and the products that support it. This Trust Fund, combined with the strong business climate that Mississippi provides, will allow this business and industry sector to continue to thrive.

Maybe it was then when my blossoming realism began.

Now, some often take my realistic approach as negativity. And let’s face it, we all have negative attitudes. Sometimes, our minds immediately jump to the worst case scenario. And we shouldn’t be ashamed of that. We should be ready to accept the situations life throws us, good or bad. We should also embrace the way we feel and not discount our feelings, but rather learn to work through them.

Take for instance, my daddy’s kidney failure diagnosis. When I first heard about dialysis, my mind instantly pictured a medical office with zombies. So, I was terrified when we took him to his first appointment. But upon further inspection, I realized that the center was, in fact, not full of zombies, but some of the most wonderful nurses and people. Shoutout to the dialysis nurses at the Fresenius Kidney Care Center in Diamond-head.

Once I learned more about dialysis, I felt much better about it.

I’m a firm believer in seeking out the facts when it comes to things, especially when it comes to matters of health.

I can’t with all honesty sit here and spew nothing but rainbows and sunshine at people. Life is hard, it breaks your heart over and over again, and why try to smother your feelings with only those of positivity?

I go into most situations seeing some of the good outcomes (yes, my editor is shocked right now) and also preparing myself for the bad outcomes. If I’ve learned anything from the people who are facing death — and let’s face it we all are, we don’t know when our time is up, it could be tomorrow — is that it’s important to embrace the moments we have. Sure, they may not look like some picture perfect scenario and could be as simple as a hug and a smile from your favorite (well, he does tell me he is my only one) nephew.

I’ve also learned that cancer doesn’t define who a person is. Sure, they are fighting this terrible disease, but if I learned anything from this year’s Honorary Survivor, Donald Murphy, it is that you keep on doing the things that mean the most to you. He is still very much carrying on his wife’s legacy at Waveland’s LiLi Stahler-Murphy Ground Zero Hurricane Museum and much more.

Sometimes we just have to deal with the curve balls life throws our way. I’m still learning how exactly to do that, but I have learned so much from the people I mentioned here and so thankful for the impact they had on me. And just maybe, if we learn to stop looking for only rainbows and sunshine, we will be able to appreciate the more meaningful moments and not be afraid to share our very valid fears. It’s human nature to feel fear, but fears can sometimes be tempered by looking at things as they are, acknowledging the problem, finding a manageable way to deal with it, and simply enjoying the moments we have with one another.

She was preceded in death by her daughter, Dawn Clark; grandson, Brandon Dougherty; parents, Lollice Bilbo and Mary Raymond Bilbo and brother, Ferdinand Bilbo.

She is survived by her four daughters, LaDonna Dougherty, Mary Dougherty, Tracey Dougherty and Susan Dougherty; son, Daniel Dougherty; seventeen grandchildren and seventeen great-grandchildren.

by a Graveside Service at Gardens of Memory Cemetery in Bay St. Louis. Edmond Fahey Funeral Home is honored to serve the family and friends of Marylin “Granny” Yvonne Dougherty.

JORDAN WAYNE GOFF

Jordan Wayne Goff born November 14, 1997, (24), departed this life on April 21, 2022. Jordan accepted Christ as his Lord and Savior at a young age and was baptized by Pastor Kenneth Baker at Powerhouse of Deliverance Ministries in Picayune, Mississippi under the leadership of Bishop Jeffery Reed of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

Jordan was handsome, intelligent, brave, attentive, generous, honest, and funny. He was a genuine soul whose love for his family and friends knew no limit, and he was cherished dearly in return. Jordan’s life and memory is a beautiful tribute to love.

The reader may not know that Jordan was a contributing author of Letters from Katrina: Stories of Hope & Inspiration; he played basketball and soccer at Bay Waveland High School and graduated early; he loved to bake for his mom; and he started his own lawn care business at nine years old. He was the baby of the family and will be deeply missed.

Jordan was preceded in death by his grandmother Mary Goff and grandfather Lynzell Stacks. Jordan is survived by his parents, Wayne and Georgia Goff and Kathy Anderson; his siblings, Kerri (Benjamin) Wooten, Eric Hunt, Destiny Flood, Rico Hall, Breanna (Ray) Young, Audrianna Goff, Lance Davis, Orlando Lyons, and Sabrina (Kerry) Barners. Jordan is also survived by his only child, Hassan Isiah Saucier (mother, Ambreanna Saucier), born March 24, 2022. Jordan had loving grandparents, aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends far too numerous to list.

Visitation was held on Saturday, April 30, 2022, 12:00 P.M., at Powerhouse of Deliverance Ministries, 1978 Washington Street, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, 39520. Memorial Services were held at 1:00

P.M., thereafter. Burial followed at Memorial Services at Little Providence Cemetery in Catahoula, Mississippi. Repast followed at Powerhouse of Deliverance in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

In lieu of floral arrangements, the family welcomes potted plants or trees. Contributions made in honor of Jordan’s memory may be made directly to his parents Wayne and Georgia Goff (160 Cathy Drive, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi), for the care and benefit of Jordan’s son, Hassan.

Finally, the family would like to thank Coroner Jeff Hair for his care, compassion, and professionalism.

JOHN ROBERT “BOBBY” LADNER, SR.

John Robert “Bobby” Ladner, Sr. passed away peacefully from a long battle with Alzheimer’s disease with his family by his side at his home on April 30, 2022 in Bay St. Louis, MS.

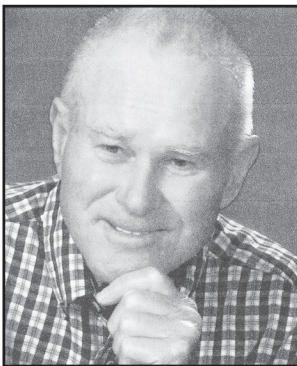

He was 84 years old, born and raised in Ansley, MS and a lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis, MS.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Edward V. Ladner and Mamie Z. Ladner, his son, John Robert Ladner, Jr., his siblings Joe (Bonnie) Ladner, Leo (Barbara) Ladner, Ethel (Nelius) Favre, George (Margaret) Ladner, Georgie (Bill) Irwin, and relatives, Jimmie Sticker, Henry A. and Anna B. Calamari, and Henry J. Calamari.

He is survived by his loving wife of 58 years, Ann Calamari Ladner, his children, Theresa (Paul) Grego, Sr., Jane (Matt) Johns, Mary Ladner Hardy, Carol (Kurt) Raymond, and Mark Ladner; nine grandchildren, Paul, Sarah, Kristen, and Katherine Grego, Jacob Johns, Brandon and Rebecca Hardy, Holly and Michael Raymond; his sisters, Anna (Gilbert) Schmidt and Evelyn Sticker.

He retired after working with Hancock County Maintenance Department in 2003. Prior to that he worked at Bienville Steel as a machine operator where in 1987 he helped build the special cross for the stage when Pope John Paul II visited New Orleans. He was also a carpenter for Wayne Lusich Construction, a truck driver for Chevron, a machine operator for Brignac Enamel Plant and cut trees for a logging company.

In his spare time, he enjoyed being at his farm in Ansley, taking care of his horses, cows, hogs, and goats. He loved teaching his family his country upbringing by sharing his love of riding horses, churning butter, milking cows, and raising chickens. He kept up his family home in Ansley until Hurricane Katrina destroyed the house, barn and his animals. At his home in Bay St. Louis, he brought the country life with him by raising chickens and planting many vegetable gardens. He was always willing to help others in need. His strong Catholic faith was a role model to his family by participating as an usher for several churches including St. Ann Chapel, St. John Catholic Church and St. Ann Catholic Church. He also was a parishioner at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

We would like to thank his special caregiver, Crystal Labat. We would also like to thank all of Notre Dame Hospice employees especially Fanta, Kayla, Susan, Stephanie, Kendra, Angie, Missy, Yvonne, Cindy, and Terrance and the hospice volunteers, Denise, Karen, Barbara, and Lorraine; and additional caregivers, Nadine and Geri.

Visitation will be 9:00am-11:00am on Tuesday, May 10, 2022 at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church with a Mass of Christian Burial at 11:00am followed immediately by a celebration of Bobby’s life at Bay St. Louis Community Center, 301 Blaize Avenue, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520. The burial will take place at 4:00pm at the Lakeshore Cemetery. Edmond Fahey Funeral Home is honored to serve the family and friends of John Robert "Bobby" Ladner, Sr.

ily, and by extension, is affecting us, all. As you probably know, William ‘Will’ Waltman, an H2O employee with Public Works, was the victim of an armed robbery and shooting while in the field working on a lift station,” Gulfport Mayor Billy Hewes said in a social media statement.

“While AMR paramedics and surgeons at Gulfport Memorial made heroic efforts to save his life, the extent of Will’s injuries was too severe. The actions of First Responders were nothing short of remarkable - giving testament to their training, ensuring further tragedies did not occur.

“While there are many questions to be answered, that which we do know is, we have lost a co-worker, who was a son, a husband, and a father. ... Please keep his wife, Shannon, and their children in your thoughts and prayers.”

In all, police said, Reynolds killed four people — Mohammad Moeini, 51; Laura Lehman, 61; Chad Green, 55; and Waltman.

Authorities said Reynolds shot Moeini, Lehman and Green at the Broadway Inn, then left the hotel and carjacked Waltman in his City of Gulfport public works vehicle.

Waltman was rushed to a hospital, but died in

The Bayou LaCroix project has been in the works for years, starting with the acquisition of the property formerly known as “The Cave,” which privately operated as a bar, bait shop and boat launch for decades.

Bay City Engineer Jason Chiniche said the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources and the Boater Access Grant Program were instrumental in making the project happen.

Ward 6 Councilman Josh DeSalvo also thanked the original property owners, the Necaise family for their help.

“It’s an honor for (Rep. Brent Anderson) and I to bring this money back here to Hancock County, and it’s not easy,” since legislators all across the state lobby to get funding to their own projects.

However, Moran said, “It’s one of many we’ve been able to do and there are a lot more on the way.”

After shooting Waltman, Reynolds then barged into Brothers Food Mart in Gulfport, threatened people there, then barricaded himself in a storeroom, where he later apparently turned his gun on himself during a stand-off with police.

Mothers: Yesterday, Today, and Forever

By REV. C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN

C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN.

As we anticipate the observance of Mother's Day in the upcoming weekend it is appropriate to pause for reflection upon the significance of this crucial role in our cultural life. Of course, the obvious, and vital, role of giving birth is a proper place to begin. Men can never really know the depth of emotional connection which pregnancy and childbirth creates between mother and child. DNA has not defined it. Psychology has failed to quantify it. Circumstances do not alter it. The connection is profound, and in many ways, defies reasoned explanation.

Of course, life happens. Most mothers do their best to care for and nurture their young. Many do it with confidence, grace, dignity, and an abundance of love. Others struggle, falter, and leave behind a blemished record of effective parenting. In either case, the powerful relationship of Mother and child will always be an important component of both their lives.

Motherhood, like so many aspects of modern life, has changed greatly through the years of the 20th Century and now well into the 21st. Indeed, the role of women generally has, and continues, to move through an evolutionary process. The idea of females in the workforce, with very few exceptions such as nurses and teachers, was largely unknown and without favor just a few generations ago. There are still significant numbers of people who question these changes and long for "the good old days" of more clearly defined roles. Sometimes traditional biblical and spiritual understandings stand in the way of progress for women. More recently, progressive thinking with regard to sexual orientation has added another level of contention to an already contentious subject. There is still a long way to go before women are able to claim the benefits, responsibilities, and assumptions which men have known for ages.

This is a profoundly spiritual issue. It is true that much of the literature of the bible, as well as many doctrinal declarations of the church, have studiously maintained traditional views regarding gender roles. Of course, the same can be said for many areas of science, psychology, geology, technology, and other disciplines. We have learned to cling to the wisdom of our faith while expanding the horizons of tolerance and love to embrace an ever broadening scope of human relations. Hopefully, we will continue to do this with respect to gender equity so that a more fair and honest representation of women's issues may emerge.

In the meantime, here is one husband, father, and grandfather who is very thankful for the positive contributions of wives, mothers, grandmothers, and the many influences of women in our lives. You enrich us in so many ways.

Happy Mother's Day!

The Class 2A-4A-6A state championship meet was held on Friday while the Class 1A-3A-5A state meet took place on Saturday at Pearl High School.

BASEBALL

The Rocks (19-9) swept a pair of games against the Magee Trojans 12-0 and 11-1 to advance to the third round of the Class 3A state baseball playoffs.

SSC got a huge lift in Game 1 from senior RHP Brandon Rhodes who threw 71 pitches for a complete game shutout and allowed just two hits with nine strikeouts. At the plate, Brandon Rhodes was 2-for-3 with a 2-run homerun.

Hugh LeMasters, Ethan Jacobi, and Gage Rabby got two hits in the game. LeMasters had two RBIs and Rabby had one. Seth Farni recorded a three-run homerun while Tanner Reinike, Hill Gainey, and Chesley Rhodes each had a hit.

At the plate, we swung the bat very well against a very good Magee team. We have to continue our approach at the plate and pitch effectively in the third round. It only gets tougher."

The petition was filed with the Hancock County Chancery Clerk’s office on July 22, 2008.

The process begin in August 2007 and concluded in January 2012, she said.

She praised the efforts of state Sen. Philip Moran and then-Rep. Jessica Upshaw, not only for helping Diamondhead’s incorporation succeed, but also for drafting the legislation that allowed operation of golf carts on public streets — “a first in the state of Mississippi,” she said.

Over the next year, Ingraham said, he and Diamondhead’s first city council basically set the groundwork for the city’s operation, adopting building codes, setting the free-board requirements for flood zones, adopting traffic ordinances, setting the first millage establishing a ward plan, ensuring the city complied with the Voting Rights Act of 1965, adopting statutes, and establishing a police force and city hall.

“With the assistance of community volunteers and volunteer staff, we were able to play a role in the formation of our city and preparing it to take its first steps,” Ingraham said.

Hosemann said he had visited Hancock County many times as a youngster, traveling to St. Stanislaus in the summers, and he marveled at how far Diamondhead has come since those days.

He said it was due in large part to the character of the people who live here.

“Every time I have a chance to come down here ... people always say ‘I can’t believe how much the people care,” Hosemann said, “and that’s the epitome of Diamondhead.”

He said it was his honor and privilege to sign the city’s charter as secretary of state 10 years ago.

Hosemann said that three weeks ago, he got a call from the governor of Ukraine.

“He said, ‘I want to know how you rebuilt (on the Coast) after Hurricane Katrina. We want to do the same thing in Ukraine,’” Hosemann said. “They want to replicate that things that you did. On behalf of the entire state of Mississippi, I’d like to thank each and every one of you for what you did and what you continue to do.”

Depreo said Diamondhead’s future continues to look bright, with much more expansion on the way.

“We’re proud to announce we’re now the largest city in Hancock County with 9,529 residents and growing every day,” she said, adding that the city has already begun its “Envision 2040” plan to grow the business and commercial district, and improve the city’s roadways.

She again thanked Moran and Rep. Jay McKnight for their efforts on behalf of the city in getting the funding to begin the process.

Moran, McKnight and former Councilwoman Dianne Ackerman presented Years of Service awards to Diamond employees; and former Councilman Ernie Knobloch and Michael Reso recognized city officials, past and present.

he said. “Now, it’s an open thing and it’s just a disease like any other disease. In most cases, it can be treated and cured, but not always.”

Murphy said he has also learned to listen to his doctors.

“Thankfully, the cost of the medications I’ve been able to handle without a problem,” he said. “I really feel sorry for people who are lower income or people who are in poverty.”

Murphy said he feels fortunate to work with groups like Relay for Life who provide assistance to cancer patients in need.

He said he’s been involved with Relay for the past decade.

Murphy said he was surprised when he was named this year’s Honorary Survivor.

“I could think of a lot of people who have done a lot more since they’ve had cancer,” he said.

Murphy said as long as he does what he’s told, “one of my doctors said, ‘you might get hit by a bus, but you won’t die of cancer.’”

He expressed the importance of everyone keeping up with his or her annual medical checkups.

Murphy said he lives by the motto of “Don’t give up.”

“I knew what was happening with her (LiLi) and I’ve never gotten to the stage she was,” he said. “But, I did learn that there are people that care and there are a lot of things that you can do.”

Murphy said LiLi “fought it all the way.” LiLi passed away on July 12, 2020.

“The last treatment they offered said that it was a 50 percent chance and she decided that it wasn’t worth it,” she said. “In her case, the treatments were really hard. I’m blessed that mine are not.”

Bernie Cullen, who co-chairs Hancock County Relay for Life with Nonnie Richardson, said the group chose Murphy as this year’s honorary survivor because of his support of Relay for Life over the years.

“He’s a great example of a survivor who just gets cancer, recovers, and gets on with his life,” she said.

This year’s theme is “Relay Around the World,” Cullen said.

Each team picks a country and their campsite, baton, and food all have to reflect the country of choosing.

“People can come out and not only support Relay, but they can just sample and understand more about different countries,” Cullen said.

The Hancock County Relay for Life is scheduled for Saturday, May 14 from 4 to 9 p.m. at McDonald Pavilion at Dunbar and Carroll Avenue in Bay St. Louis.

The ceremony begins at dusk, she said.

All funds raised during Relay for Life campaigns in Hancock County stay within the local community. Those funds help patients with transportation to and from treatments, lodging, wigs, and more.

Volunteers also decorate luminaries each year.

According to the American Cancer Society’s website, “Luminaries honor every life touched by cancer. You can dedicate them to a loved one lost, someone currently battling, or anyone who’s overcome it. When you attend a Relay event, you’ll see the Luminaries decorated with names and sometimes messages to the people they’re dedicated to. After dark, Relay participants share an emotional moment when each Luminaria is lit in remembrance of a life touched by cancer.”

Cullen said that interested parties can also contact Relay members for purple ribbons to hang at their business or home.

Luminaries and ribbons are available for a donation.

Donations can also be made online.
